

Exercise 43

For the following exercises, use the vertical line test to determine which graphs show relations that are functions.

Solution

The relation is a function because any vertical line that goes through the curve does so exactly once.

