

Exercise 2

How do we determine the domain of a function defined by an equation?

Solution

Start by asking what numbers you can't put into a function. This will result in an equation or inequality that you can solve for x .