

Exercise 2

What is interpolation when using a linear model?

Solution

Interpolation means that you're using the model to predict an output with an input that is within the domain (or, alternatively, to predict an input with an output that is within the range).