

Exercise 1

Explain the difference between the coefficient of a power function and its degree.

Solution

The coefficient is the number to the left of a variable, and the degree of a power function is the highest power that a variable is raised to.