

Question 10

A vector has zero magnitude. Is it necessary to specify its direction? Explain.

---

Solution

The components of a vector with zero magnitude are all zero, so the vector has no direction to specify.