Question 17

If two vectors are equal, what can you say about their components?

Solution

If two vectors are equal, then their respective components are equal.