

Question 4

What do vectors and scalars have in common? How do they differ?

Solution

Vectors and scalars both have a number and units. Vectors also have a direction associated with them, which scalars do not have.